Dear Reviewer:

Welcome to the MedEdPORTAL team and thank you for agreeing to serve as a reviewer for MedEdPORTAL Publications.

MedEdPORTAL Publications is a free publication service provided by the Association of American Medical Colleges in partnership with the American Dental Education Association. Since its inception in 2005, MedEdPORTAL has expanded the size and scope of its collection. Each week, between 500-1,000 publications are accessed and utilized by global users from over 10,000 medical, dental and other health education institutions in over 190 countries.

MedEdPORTAL Publications was designed to be comparable to a traditional scholarly publication. While MedEdPORTAL Publications is not a traditional journal, it shares many features in common with conventional scholarly publishing. MedEdPORTAL Publications maintains a rigorous peer review process based on widely accepted standards of educational scholarship. These publications are considered by many to represent scholarly works that contribute meaningfully to faculty advancement decisions.

MedEdPORTAL Publications reviewers serve as an important quality gatekeeper by ensuring that each assigned resource receives suitable reviews that form the basis of a sound editorial decision. For each submission, we typically ask for reviews from at least two experts. These reviewers may or may not have common expertise, depending on the content and pedagogy of each submission.

We ask our peer reviewers to pay attention to the issues outlined in the Reviewer Expectations document when conducting your review of a submission. This document describes the expected duties of reviewers and provides important guidelines regarding the peer review process. Please be mindful that we strive to provide our authors with high quality reviews, including comprehensive narrative feedback. This is the most important part of the review. We ask that you summarize the resource and then offer actionable criticism and advice. It is very important to make the narrative feedback as detailed and robust as possible.

Thank you for agreeing to serve our community in this way. Your efforts will contribute to the high standards of MedEdPORTAL Publications.
